The first Cambridge Early Music Festival will bring together leading performers and choirs of seven centuries of European music in a vast array of concerts of outstanding quality.

The varied programme includes a rare chance to hear Medieval music, sung by the internationally renowned group, Gothic Voices, Renaissance choral music, Baroque concertos and trio sonatas and Classical chamber music. Using instruments of the period and performance styles appropriate to the music, the Festival offers the opportunity to hear chamber and less well-known music in historic surroundings.
